DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-2, 4-10 and 12-16 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Miyamoto et al. P.N. 4,672,346 (Miyamoto).

Miyamoto discloses a magnetic field generating device for NMR. Applicant's attention is directed to Fig. 12 and corresponding description. The static magnetic field generator has opposed permanent magnets 1, and a yoke 3 that may have integral base and columnar portions or discrete base and columnar yokes as shown and described in connection with Fig. 8. The portion of the yoke 3 corresponding to the columnar yokes features a number of screws 22 that may be used to modify the "magnetic resistance" of the magnetic circuit. Miyamoto meets all the limitations of the claims at issue.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Miyamoto as applied to claims 1, 2 and 10 above, and further in view of Aoki et al. P.N. 6,340,888.

The difference between the prior art as represented by Miyamoto and the claim at issue is the position of the "magnetic resistance" modifying device. To provide such device in the bending portion as claimed would have been obvious to the artisan of ordinary skill in the art in view of Aoki et al. Note that Aoki (see e.g. the abstract) teaches of the disposition of a magnetic resistance modifying device in the "bending portion" of a yoke.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claim 3 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: None of the prior art considered teaches or discloses a magnetic resistance modifying device having a rectangular cross section.

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Buford discloses a magnet in which ferromagnetic bars are used as a field adjusting device.
